NIGHT TABLE

Generated: 24/11/2026

Donald night table features a distinctive oval trumpet-shaped design, partially upholstered in leather and incorporating a discreet, concealed storage compartment. It belongs to Donald collection, which also includes a vanity desk, coffee tables and coordinated poufs.

The leather upholstery is created through tailored workmanship divided into segments. Double stitching follows the development of the volume and emphasizes the curved geometry of the structure.

The metal section captures and reflects light in constantly changing ways, creating nuances that vary according to the angle of observation.

The upper top can be rotated to reveal a small storage compartment while preserving the continuity of the shape when the night table is closed.

Donald is available in right and left configurations. Its compact proportions and integrated storage make it suitable for bedrooms and interiors seeking a functional yet unconventional element.

The product can be coordinated with the vanity desk and other furnishing accessories from the same collection, characterized by the relationship between trumpet-shaped forms, cylindrical volumes and tailoring workmanship.

Handmade in Italy, Donald interprets bedroom storage through leather, stitching, rotation and sculptural geometries.
