Cubotto

STORAGE UNIT

Cubotto is a compact storage unit with a single flap door, formed as a small volume that distinguishes it from the larger versions in the same collection.

The piece can be used individually, but finds a particular expression when two Cubotto units are placed together. Pairing them broadens the composition while preserving the clearly visible independence of each volume.

Bronze is one of the design's principal material features and is made using the traditional sand-casting technique. The process gives the metal surface a depth that retains traces of craftsmanship.

Vibrant colours, available in different options, complement the strong presence of bronze. Colour contrasts with the deeper, more irregular character of the metal, changing the perception of an apparently simple volume.

The flap door keeps the front compact when the storage unit is closed, integrating function into the geometry.

Cubotto concentrates some of the central themes of HESSENTIA's exploration on a smaller scale: artistic casting, material, colour and compositional possibilities. This small storage unit takes on a different presence when presented individually or as a pair.

HESSENTIA can customize this piece to suit your project needs. Some limitations apply.
