Morfeo

STORAGE UNIT

Morfeo is a low, elongated storage unit characterized by two symmetrical doors, a central drawer and an open compartment illuminated by LED light. It belongs to Morfeo collection, evoking the horizontal incisions and the dialogue between leather, marble, lacquer, metal and LED lighting, which can be found in the coordinated night table.

The doors and drawer are carefully upholstered in leather and decorated with a series of parallel horizontal engravings, which create continuity between the different elements, making the surface immediately recognizable.

Doors and drawers can be opened through metal profiles integrated into the design of the unit. This solution preserves the formal order of the composition and transforms the handle into a discreet linear detail.

The central open compartment has a lacquered finish available in different colours and is equipped with LED lighting. The light emphasizes the depth of the open space and creates a contrast with the closed volumes on either side.

Marble is used for the top and basement: the veining of the natural stone enters into dialogue with the leather and the colour of the lacquered compartment, allowing customized material combinations.

Its low, elongated proportions make this storage unit suitable for the bedroom, where it can be coordinated with the night table from the same collection, but also for the living area and hospitality spaces.

Handmade in Italy, Morfeo storage unit interprets contemporary storage through geometric order, leather craftsmanship, integrated light and material research.
