Linfa

DRAWER UNIT

Linfa chest of drawers is a bedroom storage unit that places materiality at the forefront through its generous marble-clad drawer fronts. It belongs to Linfa collection and extends the construction of the coordinated night table into a larger configuration.

The veining and chromatic variations of the stone run across the front surface, transforming the drawers into a single material landscape. The selection of marble therefore becomes a central part of customisation.

The drawers are supported at their ends by two internal metal uprights. The outer sections feature rounded shapes and a lacquered finish chromatically coordinated with the stone.

A metal frame visually separates the marble from the lacquered structure and introduces a precise detail within the composition. Its presence remains discreet while helping make the relationship between the different materials clearly legible.

This chest of drawers finds a natural place in the bedroom, where it can be paired with the night table from the same collection. Its material quality and proportions also allow it to be introduced into living areas, entrance spaces and hospitality interiors.

Handmade in Italy, Linfa interprets storage through the uniqueness of marble, metal details and customized lacquered finishes.
