Kantglam is a contemporary small armchair with a strong character, belonging to the HESSENTIA collection of the same name. It draws on the rigorous geometry, straight lines and compact construction of the Kantglam armchair, reinterpreting them in smaller proportions suited to the dining area.

The structure defines a precise, ordered design in which seat, backrest and armrests relate through clear volumes and balanced proportions. Squared shapes give the small armchair a recognisable look, while upholstered elements introduce softness and comfort.

The contrast between the geometric lines of the structure and the tactile quality of the upholstery balances formal rigour with a welcoming feeling. The seat provides support while retaining a compact silhouette, suitable for arrangements of several chairs around a table.

Kantglam small armchair can be customised with different upholstery, colours and finishes, adapting its character to contemporary dining rooms, living areas, restaurants, meeting rooms and hospitality projects.

Used individually or matched with Kantglam armchair, it creates ambiences with consistent geometry, proportions and materials while maintaining a clear identity.

Handmade in Italy, Kantglam interprets the contemporary small armchair through precision of construction, comfort and decorative sensitivity. This compact, distinctive seat is designed to sit within the space with balance and personality.
