Greffage

STORAGE UNIT

Greffage is a storage unit consisting in an alternation of closed and open spaces, bringing together the functions of storage and display in a harmonious, unified composition. The sequence of volumes articulates the front, changing the perception of the piece according to the viewing angle.

The elements of the structure interlock with one another. Their connections create different support surfaces and depths, preventing the item from appearing as a single compact volume.

Soft lines follow the intersections, creating a more fluid relationship between open and closed parts. Solid shapes and open spaces alternate like pauses within the same composition, giving lightness to the horizontal part of the piece.

A metal detail interrupts the continuity of the volume. Metal catches the ambient light, introducing reflections that change with the viewing angle.

Greffage can store objects within its closed compartments, while displaying others in its open parts. What is stored and what is shown thus become parts of the same design.

Within HESSENTIA's world, Greffage interprets storage furniture as a balance between solid shapes, open spaces and interlocking elements, creating a dynamic relationship between function, composition and the surrounding space.

HESSENTIA can customize this piece to suit your project needs. Some limitations apply.
