

Lisbona chair is characterized by refined look and its proportions have been thought to grant the best comfort. The front legs are made of maple tree wood lacquered with dark brown colour, while the frame and back legs are upholstered with leather, and present refined brushed metal details on the upper part. The back legs, a bit reclined internally, sustain an enveloping leather back embroidered with “plissé” effect while the leather seat exalts the shape of this chair showing the cross detail that joins the legs.
