Twig

ARMCHAIR

Twig is a contemporary seating collection comprising a small armchair and a stool, defined by a structure of slender, shaped metal rods and Mongolia fur upholstery, which gives the seat a soft, tactile and enveloping look.

The metal structure follows the seat's profile and supports the backrest through a continuous, light line. The rods define the form without weighing it down, creating a clear contrast with the more irregular volume of the upholstery.

The metal is decorated with an artisanal frosted finish that creates subtle surface variations and reflections. The finish reveals the handwork and enhances the curves of the structure, making it a central visual element of the design.

Mongolia fur upholstery is the distinctive character of Twig collection. The length and natural movement of the fibres introduce tactile depth and surface variations, softening the rigour of the metal structure and enhancing the sense of comfort.

The collection includes a small armchair designed for dining rooms, living areas, bedrooms and hospitality ambiences, and a stool that follow the same design language in a taller configuration though for counters, islands and spaces for socialising.

The structure is available in different metal finishes, allowing more restrained colour combinations or strong contrasts with the Mongolia upholstery.

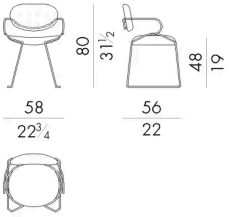

Handmade in Italy, Twig brings together the lightness of metal, craftsmanship and the sensory depth of its upholstery. Comfort and material define an immediately recognisable identity within this seating collection.
