NIGHT TABLE

The night table Morfeo has essential design particularly indicated in a sleeping area with an elegant formal rigour. Larger than the standard model it provides an open space that can accommodate a series of books or objects of different size. The drawer is positioned on the right or left side of the night table, this creating a fairly unfamiliar design for a sleeping area. A series of parallel horizontal engravings mark all the elements forming the external part and represent the distinctive element of this piece. The lacquered open compartment is available in trendy colours easy to match with themarbles used for the top and the base on the ground. The night table has a led light in the open compartment.
