Axon

COFFEE TABLE

Axon is a HESSENTIA coffee table in marble chips that reinterprets Venetian terrazzo through a contemporary, simple and decorative language. Inspired by the traditional flooring technique of historic Venetian palaces, its surface combines marble fragments, natural colours and artisanal sensitivity, creating visual depth, rhythm and material variations.

The marble chips enhances the irregular nature of the composition, making each top different in its arrangement, intensity and appearance. The geometric shapes of the table allows the visual strength of the finish to emerge, placing the material at the centre of the living space.

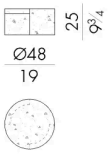

Available in different sizes and heights, Axon can be used individually or with other shapes in the same collection. Within HESSENTIA's design language, it becomes a textured, refined coffee table that reinterprets Italian decorative tradition with contemporary sensitivity.
