CHAISE LONGUE

Denver chaise longue is a seat dedicated to relaxation, inspired by 1970s design and shaped as a full volume clearly legible from the side. It belongs to Denver collection, which also includes a coordinated modular sofa.

Denver is composed of two principal elements: a continuously shaped upholstered body supported by a metal base, and a seat cushion set enclosed within the structure.

The metal structure supports the upholstered part and gives it visual lightness, creating a contrast between the precision of the base and the softness of the seat. Elongated proportions follow the body and encourage a relaxed posture.

Denver is available in leather or fabric and can be accessorised with additional cushions. It can be coordinated with the sofa of the same collection.

Handmade in Italy, Denver interprets contemporary seating through design heritage, comfort and minimal lines.
