Leaf is a contemporary small armchair with organic shapes inspired by the lightness and natural movement of leaves. Its curved, enveloping profile defines a compact seat designed to offer comfort and a recognisable presence in contemporary interiors.

The structure is completely upholstered with leather, developing through continuous surfaces that follow the seat, backrest and armrests. Balanced proportions make the small armchair welcoming while keeping the composition light, allowing it to sit naturally in dining and living areas.

Leaf's distinctive feature is the three-dimensional embroidery covering the overall surface. This craftsmanship creates a wave-patterned, three-dimensional motif that evokes the veins and movement of a leaf. The upholstery thus becomes an active part of the design as well as a tactile surface.

The sequence of waves creates variations in light and shadow, accentuates the texture and highlights the precision of the tailoring. Each curve contributes to the small armchair's appearance from different viewpoints.

Leaf can be customised with different upholstery, colours and material combinations, adapting it to dining rooms, bedrooms, lounges, restaurants and contemporary hospitality projects.

The small armchair belongs to Leaf collection, which also includes coordinated poufs and a bed, inspiring ambiences with refined layout.

Handmade in Italy, Leaf interprets contemporary seating through organic shape, comfort and three-dimensional embroidery. Tailoring craftsmanship and natural inspiration define a precise, recognisable identity.
