BENCH

Generated: 24/11/2026

Cheope bench is a contemporary seat defined by the contrast between a linear surface covered in saddle leather and two bases with three-dimensional metal sheet decorative finish. It belongs to Cheope collection, which also includes coordinated tables and coffee tables.

A thin metal sheet is shaped by hand to create reliefs, folds and surface variations. The colour finish highlights the texture, transforming the bases into artistic elements.

The seat introduces a softer, more restrained surface. Saddle leather is available in several colours to be coordinated with the different metal shades, creating customised material and colour combinations.

Cheope suits different ambiences but finds a natural place in the bedroom, at the foot of a bed or within a walk-in closet. It can be coordinated with other elements in the same collection.

Handmade in Italy, Cheope interprets the accessory through three-dimensional metal craftsmanship, saddle leather upholstery and an exploration of materials.
