Twig

ARMCHAIR

Twig is a contemporary seating collection comprising a small armchair and a stool, defined by a slender, shaped metal rod structure that wraps around the seat and supports the backrest through a light, continuous and recognisable design.

The metal structure follows the seat's profile, defining its identity through curved lines and fluid connections. The rods become an active part of the design, outlining the shape and giving visual lightness to the upholstered parts, beyond their supporting role.

The metal is decorated with an artisanal frosted finish that creates subtle surface variations and reflections. This finish enhances the curves of the structure and reveals the handcraftsmanship involved.

The upholstered seat and backrest offer enveloping comfort and can be customised with a wide range of textured fabrics. The upholstery weave introduces tactile depth, creating a balanced contrast with the precision of the metal structure.

The collection includes a small armchair designed for dining rooms, living areas, bedrooms and hospitality ambiences, and a stool that follow the same design language in a taller configuration though for counters, islands and spaces for socialising.

Upholstery, colours and metal finishes can be coordinated to suit the interior design setting, creating tonal continuity or stronger contrasts between the structure and upholstered parts.

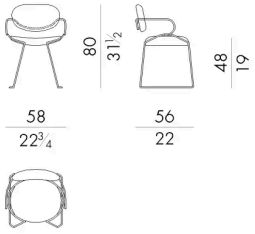

Handmade in Italy, Twig brings together the lightness of metal, comfort and an exploration of upholstery. Precision of construction and tactile quality define a contemporary identity within this versatile seating collection.
