Bloom

ARMCHAIR

Bloom is a contemporary armchair with generous proportions, defined by the encounter between geometric volumes, soft lines and a deeply welcoming seat. The design reinterprets the elegance of 1950s upholstered furniture through a more essential language, giving the armchair a strong yet balanced look.

The composition develops through broad, continuous surfaces. Back, seat and armrests create a compact volume shaped to embrace the body and offer an immediate sense of comfort. Its substantial proportions make Bloom a seat designed not simply to complete an interior, but to become one of its main elements.

The geometry of the design is softened by the padding and the continuity of the curves. This balance between rigour and welcome allows the armchair to fit into different interiors, from contemporary living rooms to lounge and hospitality ambiences.

This armchair can be upholstered in leather or fabric and customized through different colour and material combinations. The choice of upholstery changes the perception of the volume, enhancing tactile depth, continuity of the surfaces and the enveloping character of the seat.

The armchair can be paired with the coordinated sofa from the same collection to create compositions consistent in shape, proportions and comfort.

Handmade in Italy, Bloom armchair by HESSENTIA interprets contemporary furniture design through generous volumes, upholstery workmanship and attention to the relationship between visual presence and wellbeing.
