Moon

RUG

Moon is a circular rug made by hand using the hand-tufting technique, in which the geometric purity of the circle meets a pile worked at different heights. Its monochromatic surface thus gains depth directly through the textile construction.

Variations in the pile create soft reliefs and different levels within the same shape. The design remains simple, while its three-dimensional quality makes the surface more complex and responsive to light.

As the eye moves across the rug, the different heights create subtle shadows and change the perception of colour. The single colour therefore allows variations in thickness to become more apparent, rather than producing a uniform surface.

The circular shape introduces a clear, recognisable geometry. Within its outline, however, the reliefs interrupt this regularity and create a softer rhythm, establishing a balance between precision and material.

Hand tufting connects each rug to the craftsmanship of HESSENTIA's artisans. The combination of the pile becomes part of the design, transforming an archetypal shape into a contemporary tactile presence.

Moon expresses HESSENTIA's exploration of textile design by bringing together the circle, a single colour and three-dimensionality through a handcrafted process in which the simplicity of the shape reveals the complexity of the surface.

HESSENTIA can customise this item to meet the requirements of your project. Some limitations apply.
