Tato is a contemporary small armchair inspired from Tita chair, adopting its circular, enveloping design and transforming it into a wider, fully upholstered seat with more generous volumes.

The composition arises from the meeting of curved elements, rounded shapes and different thicknesses. A cylindrical seat is the centre of the design, while backrest and armrests develop around the body through soft, continuous shapes.

Compared with Tita, whose structure remains more visible, Tato focuses attention on the upholstery and its tactile depth. The compact volume thus takes on a softer, more enveloping appearance while preserving its recognisable formal connection with the collection.

The curves follow the seated posture and create a welcoming seat, designed for comfort in dining areas, living areas, bedrooms, meeting rooms and contemporary hospitality ambiences.

Tato can be customised with a selection of textured fabrics, colours and tones combinations. Continuous upholstery enhances the circular forms, while the fabric weave highlight the texture.

The small armchair is available in two height configurations, allowing its proportions to be adapted to the table and interior design setting.

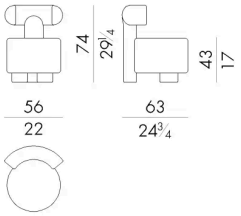

Handmade in Italy, Tato interprets the contemporary small armchair through full upholstery, circular shapes and enveloping comfort. Tita's simple lines evolve into fuller volumes and a softer presence.
