Laila

CHAIR

Laila is a contemporary seating collection including a chair and a small armchair, defined by a solid wood structure that highlights the quality of Italian cabinetmaking and the precision of its joints.

The design arises from the meeting of rounded wooden elements disposed vertically and horizontally. Their intersections create an open, recognisable structure in which each component has a precise function and contributes to the overall seat design.

Legs, crosspieces and backrest supports meet through carefully worked connections: this system of joints reveals the construction, making the structure one of its distinctive design feature.

Rounded surfaces soften the geometric rigour, giving the chair a soft, restrained presence. Wood craftsmanship enhances grain, natural variations and the continuity of the wood, highlighting the relationship between material and artisanal expertise.

The upholstered seat and backrest introduce comfort and tactile depth, creating a harmonious contrast with the solidity of the wooden structure. Upholstery and finishes can be customised to be coordinated with the table, ambience and project requirements.

Laila is available as a simpler chair and as a small armchair with armrests. Both are designed for dining rooms, living areas, restaurants, meeting rooms and contemporary hospitality ambiences.

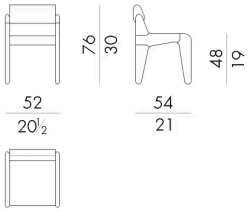

Handmade in Italy, Laila interprets contemporary seating through solid wood, fine cabinetmaking and precision of construction. Its interplay of joints becomes a distinctive design feature.
