Lullaby is a contemporary armchair composed of two overlapping upholstered volumes, designed to create a compact, soft and enveloping seat. The overlapping of the elements defines a recognizable silhouette in which geometry and comfort enter into dialogue.

The lower section creates a visually solid base, while the upper volume develops through gently rounded lines. The continuity of the curves softens the rigour of the composition and transforms an essential structure into an intimate space dedicated to relaxation.

Seat and back flow into a continuous shape designed to provide support and welcome. Its compact proportions allow the armchair to fit naturally into living areas, bedrooms, lounges and contemporary hospitality interiors.

The metal base supports the upholstered body and visually lightens it, introducing a precise sign beneath the soft volumes. The contrast between the visual lightness of the metal structure and the fullness of the upholstery contributes to defining the identity of the design.

This armchair can be customized in natural leather, fabric or Mongolia fur. The different textures deeply change the character of the armchair: leather and fabric enhance the continuity of the shape, while the fur version accentuates tactile depth and the visual appearance of the seat.

Handmade in Italy, Lullaby interprets upholstered armchair for HESSENTIA through compositional balance, comfort and research into upholstery. It is a seat designed to characterize the interiors without giving up an intimate, welcoming feeling.
